

Herefordshire flag

Saturday, 23 January 2010

We have just put a small section on the Herefordshire flag which has come on to the market recently.

Google goes will notice a thread on a forum by someone who claims to have designed the flag.

In actual fact the flag is simply the County Coat of arms stretched into a flag making one of the nicest county designs on the market.

It is both colourful and nicely proportioned for a flag.

The coat of arms itself was apparently relatively recently granted in 1946.
